WELCOME TO THE FANCY!

We’re pleased to have you join us at this show. Whether you are just doing some preliminary research in choosing the right breed for you and your family or you already have your canine companion and want to learn more, this is an excellent place for you to start.

This booklet was designed by the Dog Show Superintendents Association to give you some basic information. If you have become involved in the sport, or if you are thinking of becoming involved, Superintendents can be an important factor in your experience. Superintending organizations work together with clubs to produce and manage dog shows. Part of their job is to help insure that everything runs smoothly for the club and that everything is progressing for their show according to AKC Rules and Regulations. Another important part of their job is to help newcomers understand those same Rules and Regulations. Helping you understand shows and helping you gain in your knowledge of AKC Rules and Regulations, will add to your success and enjoyment of the game. (For more detail on what Superintendents do see page 12.)

This booklet contains information on the most frequent items with which you will come into contact during your day at the show. Of course, if there’s anything you would like to have additional information on, or if there’s something that’s not quite clear, please feel free to come to the Superintendent’s desk and ask. If you don’t have any questions during the event, but think of something after you have left, we’ve included some website addresses for specific sites as well as some helpful e-mail addresses you may use to obtain additional information.
BASIC DOG SHOW ETIQUETTE

Here are some brief pointers in basic dog show etiquette for you and your family when you attend your first shows. These particular items were developed by and are displayed at the Thanksgiving Classic shows in Springfield, MA. We appreciate their cooperation in allowing us to reproduce them here. They have been slightly expanded by DSSA. They will be very helpful in making your dog show experience a good one. You will notice they are just good common sense rules.

Ask before Touching or Feeding a Dog! Often people have spent hours grooming their dogs. Other dogs early in their exposure to shows may be nervous at shows or may not yet be used to crowds or children. And, some dogs grab for what they may interpret as treats or they might have finicky stomachs. Once a dog has been shown exhibitors/owners are usually happy to have the dog receive some additional petting, especially if they are adding to the dog’s socialization. Be sure you ask the owner the correct way they like their dog to be approached and, in the case of a coated dog, where they would rather have you pet the dog and what area on the dog they’d prefer you to avoid.

Never let your child hug a strange dog and don’t stick your fingers into a strange dog’s crate! Just like most people object to being grabbed and hugged by strangers, or prefer not to have strangers invade your home space, so do many dogs! Please act accordingly.

Watch where you step! We’re sure you don’t want to step on any feet, noses or tails of our doggie friends. And, on another note, unfortunately not all dog handlers are considerate enough to clean up after their dogs. Likewise, particularly at outdoor shows, it’s always a good idea to keep your shoes on your feet.

Keep all family members on the outside of ring barriers! Each dog and handler has only moments in the ring for the judge to evaluate him and any distractions (food or objects thrown into the ring, body parts hanging over or under the ring barriers, and/or loud disturbances) can throw their performance off. And please remember, an empty ring is not a playpen. Don’t attempt to step or jump over ring barriers or attempt to leap over or jump up and down on rolled matting. Remember, the ring may only be idle for a brief break or it may have been reset and cleaned for upcoming judging.

Always ask first if it is a good time to talk! You might be catching someone as they are nervously waiting to go into the ring, or intent on grooming for an upcoming ring time. Or, they may be just closely watching dogs they are interested in seeing. If an owner/exhibitor is engrossed in something, they will be happy to let you know when and where is a better time to talk.

Cell phones and pagers and the like should not be on while you are at ringside. If you absolutely, positively cannot be without your device at ANY time 24/7, you should have it on mute or vibrate while you are at ringside. Ringing, beeping, musical tones and any other of the myriad rings, chimes, songs, etc., such a device may make are distracting to the dogs, the exhibitors and the people standing or sitting next to you, plus they don’t want to be involved in your conversation. Please be courteous; use your manners.

Although the progression of a dog show may appear complicated, it’s really a simple elimination contest. Each dog competes in its class. The winners of each class compete for Winners Dog and Winners Bitch. The Winners Dog and Bitch compete against the entered champions for Best of Breed, Best of Winners and Best of Opposite Sex. Each Best of Breed winner competes in its respective Variety Group. Then the seven Group Winners compete for Best in Show. At the end of the day one dog remains undefeated.
GLOSSARY OF COMMON SHOW TERMS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF ENTRY OR ID: Once entries close, and approximately 7-10 days prior to the show, you will be sent an acknowledgement of your entry along with a judging program. If you believe you have entered a show and you have not received any word by a few days prior to the show, you should call the office to which you sent your entries and verify that you are entered.

AGENT/HANDLER: Sometimes an owner believes he or she is not able to show their dog competently or as often as they would like, so they engage the services of an agent or handler. This person acts on behalf of the owner. The professional handler usually guides a dog’s show career. They may perform such duties as conditioning and training the dog for the ring, boarding the dog, transporting the dog to shows, and they may choose what shows in which the dog is exhibited. In short, the dog is under the care, custody and control of the handler and he or she is responsible for the dog while it is in their possession. There are some who use “agent” and “handler” interchangeably. There are some who make a distinction between the two. Some feel anyone can be an “agent” for an owner. Some believe Professional Handlers are those persons who make their living showing dogs. The AKC has a program to register Handlers and there are two other organizations made up of Professional Handlers – The Professional Handlers Association and the Dog Handlers Guild. All of these have requirements the handler must meet in order to become registered or a member of the professional organization.

AKC: The American Kennel Club is comprised of member clubs. Organized clubs have to meet certain criteria in order to become a member club. AKC is the governing body and the registry for the sport of dogs. They were established in 1884 to promote the study, breeding, exhibiting and advancement of purebred dogs. They maintain the Stud Book records, license and sanction dog events and maintain the official records of awards and points for dog shows, field trials, obedience trials, lure coursing, hunting tests, herding trials, agility, tracking and coonhound events, etc.

AKC CHAMPION: In order to become an AKC Champion of Record a dog must obtain 15 points. Within the 15 points there must be two “major” wins under two different judges. A “major” is a three, four or five-point win. The point schedule varies in different areas of the country, which are called divisions. Every show catalog contains the point schedule for the division in which the show occurs. It also contains instructions to help you compute points. If you are unsure of how to do this, check with the Superintendent, the Show Secretary or the AKC Representative. The AKC keeps track of each show dog’s record using the results from each show. Because these are official results, it is very important that you check the results board or table at the show to determine whether your win or placement is marked correctly on the copy of the judge’s sheet on display. If it is not marked correctly you should take the copy of the sheet to the Superintendent or Show Secretary and bring it to their attention. It will be much easier to have a correction made at the show when the judge, the ring steward and the dogs are available.

AKC DOG SHOW: This is an event Licensed or Sanctioned by the American Kennel Club. A kennel club must have their event approved by AKC in order to be able to award AKC points toward a dog’s championship. (See also section on types of events.)

AKC REGISTRATION NUMBER: When your dog is individually registered with AKC you have a permanent registration attached to your dog’s record. Your dog must be registered with AKC in order to compete in AKC events. Your registration means your dog’s history (its parents and the rest of its ancestors) is recorded as purebred and may be traced.

AKC REPRESENTATIVE: This person is an employee of the AKC. Their job is primarily to observe and report. If they are in attendance at a show where you are in attendance and you have a question on the AKC rules, or a question on judging procedure, registering your dog, etc., this is a good person to ask. AKC reps have the important responsibility of observing judges.

BITCH: A female canine.

BREAKDOWN: In the judging program you will see numbers in parentheses after the breed names. These numbers are translated as follows: If you see, for example, Boxers (10-14-4-3) this means there are 10 dogs, 14 bitches, 4 dog specials (champions) and 3 bitch specials (champions). Exhibitors use this information to help them determine whether there will be points within their entry. Since judging programs are written immediately after the entries close, before any proofing or corrections are done, the numbers in the schedule could have some discrepancies between the time the program is written and the catalog is produced. If you are looking for an elusive point or a major and the totals are borderline you may call the superintendent’s office a few days before the show to verify the total number of dogs or bitches. You are not permitted to find out, however, how many dogs or bitches are in your specific class.

BREEDER: This is the person(s) that owned the dam of your dog.

BREED STANDARD: Each breed has a standard against which it is judged. The standards are set by the Parent Club for that breed. The Breed Standard is a word picture of the ideal dog of that breed. You may obtain a copy of the Standard directly from the American Kennel Club. If you are interested in several breeds you should see the AKC’s publication, “The Complete Dog Book,” which is available at most major book stores or public libraries.
CANCELLATIONS and WITHDRAWALS of entries: Cancellations of entry may only take place PRIOR to the closing of entries. If you have made an entry and find you are unable to attend the show you may CANCEL your entry at any time prior to the show’s closing date and time and receive a refund. Cancellations must be in writing. (Note: Some organizations may have a cancellation fee that will be deducted from your entry fee. Also, if you made your entry online your refund will not include any processing fee you may have been charged.) Withdrawals of entry take place AFTER entries close. If, after entries close, there is a Change of Judge, or a certain other condition previously announced in the club’s premium list for the show changes (for example, a breed that was to be judged outdoors must now be judged indoors), and you wish not to show under the replacement judge or the new condition, you may withdraw your entry for a refund. Withdrawals must be in writing and must meet the time requirement under AKC Rules.

CATALOG: Each club must produce a show catalog. This book contains information about the showgiving club, a copy of the judging schedule and championship point schedule for that area and specific information about each dog entered and an index of the owners’ addresses in the back of the catalog. Some catalogs feature the owners’ addresses with the entry information. The catalog may also contain advertising from local breeders or a list of the club’s members who are breeders. While the superintendent prints the catalogs, they are turned over to the club and are sold only by the club. They are usually available at the club tables; sometimes the club also sells them at the admittance gates.

CHANGE OF JUDGE: There are times when the judge listed in the premium list cannot judge the breed(s) approved for them that day. For example, a judge may draw more dogs than AKC permits an individual to judge in one day. If this occurs, the judging schedule will note that due to the large entry a breed or several breeds had to be given to another judge and will specify that judge. If this happens, and you don’t want to exhibit under the new judge, you may withdraw your entry, providing the withdrawal is done prior to one half-hour before ANY conformation judging is begun. Or, a judge may become ill or injured prior to the show or at any time before or during the show. If the change is noted in the judging schedule you may withdraw as previously noted. If, however, the change is posted at the show, you may withdraw up to the time the breed was originally scheduled to be judged. All withdrawals must be done in writing. If you withdraw your entry due to a change of judge you will receive a refund after the show and after all records have been returned to the Superintendent’s office. Important Note: If a Change of Judge is posted at a show it may be necessary to move affected breeds to different rings and different times. Any withdrawal would have to be made by the time originally noted in the judging schedule, NOT any new posted time.

CLASSES: Another two-fold word. You enter your dog in one of the classes in order to be judged. For example, if you have a puppy, you may want to enter it in the Puppy Class. Puppy Classes are sometimes divided by age (6 months and under 9 months; 9 months and under 12 months). Once a dog has reached 12 months of age it is no longer considered a puppy. Classes may refer to the regular or non-regular offerings at the show. The “regular” classes that may be offered at a show are: Puppy, 12-18, Novice, Bred-by-Exhibitor, American-Bred, Open. Clubs may also offer additional approved “non-regular” classes. Non-Regular Classes may be single-dog (such as Field Trial where only one dog is judged) or multiple-dog (such as Brace, Stud Dog or Brood Bitch where multiple dogs are judged together as a unit).

Sometimes the word refers those judged prior to Best of Breed. When you hear someone say they went Best of Breed from the classes they mean their dog is not a Champion, it won its class, won Winners in its sex division, competed for Best of Breed and beat the entered Champions in their breed.

CLASS BITCH: A bitch entered in Puppy, 12-18 Months, Novice, Bred by Exhibitor, American-Bred, Open.

CLASS DOG: A dog entered in Puppy, 12-18 Months, Novice, Bred by Exhibitor, American-Bred, Open.

CLOSING OR CLOSING DATE: Shows have a date by which your entry must be in the hands of the superintendent or show secretary. Shows usually close the third Wednesday prior to the show; the time is normally 12:00 Noon that day. The day of the week on which the show occurs has a bearing on the closing day/date, so you should be sure to check the premium list. Some shows, like specialties, may close earlier. There are also shows that do not accept entries prior to an opening hour/day.

CLUB: The membership is comprised of like-minded people whose primary interest is in dogs and their welfare, promoting pure-bred dogs, and the competition in the ring. When you see the words “kennel club” or “dog club” or “dog fanciers association” in a club name it usually denotes an interest in conformation. When you see the words “training club” or “obedience trial club” or “agility” in a club’s name it usually denotes members with an interest in Obedience or Agility.

CONFORMATION: This is breed judging based upon the dog’s overall appearance and structure in comparison to the Breed Standard for that particular breed. Conformation judges are looking at how closely each dog in the class compares with the breed standard’s word picture of the ideal dog in this breed.

DAM: Your dog’s mother.

DOG: A two-fold word. This word is generic when it refers, for example, to the number of animals entered at the show. In reference to the sex of an animal, a “dog” is a male.
ENTRY FORM: To enter an AKC event, you must forward an official AKC entry form appropriate for the type of event you wish to enter, along with the entry fee. You should be aware of the statement at the bottom of the front page of the form and the agreement on the reverse side of the entry form since you are certifying these statements when you sign the entry form. If you are photocopying the entry form or faxing the entry form you must reproduce BOTH sides of the form in order for it to be valid.

EXHIBITOR: An exhibitor is the person showing the dog in the ring. An exhibitor may be the dog’s owner, a friend showing the dog for the owner, or a person hired by the owner to show the dog (an Agent or Handler).

FANCY and FANCIER: Fancy refers to the sport of purebred dogs. A Fancier is a person interested in and active in the sport of purebred dogs.

FINISHED: When you hear someone say their dog has just “finished” this usually means that with their win that day the dog has completed the requirements for its Championship.

GROOMING AREA OR TENT: At most shows you will find a specific area set aside for exhibitors to put their crate(s) and grooming table and tools. Dogs are to be groomed in this area only. Dogs are not to be groomed at ringside. You should always be sure to clean up your area when you are ready to leave.

GROUP CLUB: These clubs are comprised of members interested in the breeds belonging to one of the seven groups and their events are limited to the breeds in that group.

JUDGING PROGRAM: Once entries close a judging program must be written for the show. This is a schedule of what time and in what ring each breed will be shown. If you have entered a show you will receive an acknowledgement of that entry (the dog’s ID for the show), which is your admittance to the show. In that same envelope you will receive a copy of the judging schedule. If you are entered and have not received your acknowledgement by a few days prior to the show, and you have not received notification that your entry was rejected, you should call the office of the organization to which you sent your entry and verify that you are entered. The totals listed on the schedule are preliminary figures before any proofreading is done. There is always a possibility of discrepancies in some totals.

If you are not entered at the show but would like to attend as a spectator, you may find the schedule posted on the Superintendent’s website. Not all Superintendents may post this information, however, if not posted you may obtain the information directly from their office.

Some judging schedules will have an alphabetical list of the breeds entered. This is called an Index to Breeds. It’s the shorthand or abbreviated version of the schedule. If you find your breed in the Index to Breeds you should then turn to the body of the schedule to that ring. Go to the time slot for your breed. You may notice there are several breeds under that time slot. This means that each of those breeds will be judged in that order within that time frame. This pamphlet is also available free of charge to all spectators.

JUNIOR SHOWMANSHIP: This is a way for youngsters to participate and compete against each other. In Junior Showmanship the handling abilities of the junior handler are judged, not the merits of the dog. In order to compete in Juniors the child must first obtain an AKC Junior Handler Number (Phone: 919-816-3776, or write AKC Junior Showmanship, 5580 Centerview Dr., Raleigh NC 27606 or e-mail tbh@akc.org). An entry must contain the required Junior information in order to be acceptable.

Since this is a learning experience for Juniors, they should be involved not only in the care and training of their dog and proper show etiquette, but also in completing entries for their dog, completing the paperwork for any substitution, completing the paperwork for any Transfer of Junior Showmanship Class, etc. They are expected to have read the AKC Rules for Juniors and they should also have read the AKC Rules Applying to Dog Shows. They should also have read the Breed Standard for the breed they are showing. Some kennel clubs have a Junior program. If at all possible they should be helping at their local club’s show. Juniors are the future of the sport and they should be properly prepared to be a positive, contributing member of the Fancy all through their participation in the sport. Classes for Juniors are not divided by gender, however, they are divided by age and experience.

LIMITED SHOW: Sometimes a show may be limited to a specific number of dogs or may be limited as to what dogs may compete. For example, a conformation show may be limited to 1200 dogs due to space restrictions. This will be stated in the premium list. In addition, the premium list would state whether this was a strict numerical limit (when the entry reaches the 1200th dog the show is closed to further entries) or whether it will accept every entry received in the same mail as the 1200th entry is received. Usually, the limit will be a strict numerical situation. Obedience may also be limited in their overall entry, or with a limit on each class. This, too, would be noted in the premium list. Conformation shows sometimes are limited to only dogs that have won a blue ribbon or dogs that have obtained their Championship.

MISCELLANEOUS: This class is for pure-bred dogs of such breeds as may be designated by the AKC Board of Directors. These are breeds that are in the approval process to be incorporated into the Stud Book and into one of the Variety Groups after meeting all the requirements.

OBEDIENCE: These are classes that demonstrate a dog’s ability to take commands and perform certain exercises or patterns. The beginner classes are done with the dog on lead. The more advanced classes are done off lead. There are a number of titles Obedience dogs may obtain as they progress through the classes at each level of experience and training. (See also section on types of events.)

OPENING DATE: Some shows do not accept entries prior to a specific date and time. This information is always listed in the club’s premium list.

OWNER: This is the person who owns the dog being exhibited. Whether there is one owner or four co-owners, all are considered equal owners. There is no such thing as a “primary owner”.

PARENT CLUB: The Parent Club for a particular breed has the responsibility for the Breed Standard for that particular breed. The Parent Club would also promote their breed, distribute breed literature, hold their breed’s “National” Specialty, maintain various breed statistics, etc.

POINTS: In order to become a breed Champion your dog must amass a certain number points. Points are figured on the number of dogs/bitches entered that actually compete on that day and how many you have defeated with your win. There are also requirements for “major” wins under two separate judges. Points are awarded at the Winners level. The point schedule for each division is listed in the show catalog.

PREMIUM LIST: This is an advance announcement of the show. It tells you where the show is being held, the date(s), what classes are offered, the club officials, the name of the superintendent or show secretary, the judges, the entry fee, any trophies that will be offered, and any special notices, requirements or rules pertinent to the show. The premium list will also include an entry form for your convenience should you wish to enter.

RESULTS/MARKINGS: At each show, somewhere near, or possibly at, the Superintendent’s or Show Secretary’s table, copies of the judges’ sheets with the results of the day’s judging are posted so you may check on that day’s winners and mark your catalog. If you have won an award you should make the time to check the copy of the judge’s sheets for your breed when it is available. You should check to be sure that any award you received that day is marked correctly in the judge’s book. If the judge has marked something incorrectly it is much easier to get it corrected when you, your dog and the judge are available. At the same time you check for accuracy you can also determine the number of dogs actually shown and whether you received any points for your efforts that day.

RING: The area where you will exhibit your dog. This area is reserved strictly for the actual showing of your dog. It is NOT a practice area. You may see an empty ring during the day. This may not indicate that judging is over for that ring, it may be because the judge is having a lunch break, or it may be a ring that will be used at the time the Groups are to be judged.
SHOW LAYOUT: A diagram or map of where rings, grooming, superintendent, club officials, etc. are located. Sometimes clubs will include a layout in their judging schedule and catalog, but it is not required.

SHOW SECRETARY: Some clubs do not use a superintending organization. Instead they may have someone (usually one of their members) act as their Show Secretary. This person would then receive entries, process them, etc.

SIRE: Your dog’s father.

SPECIAL: A dog that has met the requirements for a Championship. This refers back to a time when the Best of Breed class was known as “For Specials Only”.

SPECIALTY CLUB: A Specialty Club is made up of members whose interest is in one breed. For example, a club with a name such as “The Boxer Club of the Lower Peninsula” would have events within their geographic region or area specifically for Boxers. You may hear these local specialty events referred to as “regional” specialties. Oftentimes these clubs host their breed’s “National” specialty.

SUPERINTENDENT: These individuals/organizations are in business to help clubs produce and manage their events. They are the club’s agent in the production of the club’s dog show. There were Superintendents and Show Secretaries and shows before the AKC was formed. Superintendents perform a myriad of duties to accomplish their work. They print and mail premium lists, write, print and mail judging schedules, entry acknowledgements, process the show entries, print the show catalogs and produce the armbands and judges books. They keep detailed accounting records for each show. They maintain a mail file. Many make the prize ribbons and rosettes. They also physically attend the show, set-up ring equipment, see that the show runs according to the AKC rules, process the results and forward them to the AKC and file a report on the show. They are licensed by the American Kennel Club.

TITLE: There are a number of titles offered in the various AKC events, each indicating the dog’s achievement at various levels. Each event has different requirements, and many titles are offered at each level of competition. Titles are noted on the dog in the catalog. Some titles are noted prior to the dog’s name and some are listed after the dog’s name. You will note that some dogs are multi-talented and have a number of titles in different disciplines. For example, a dog may be designated a Dual Champion if it has also achieved the title of Field Champion or Herding Champion in addition to it’s Champion of Record status in the breed ring. A dog that has its Dual Championship and its Obedience Trial Championship or Tracking or Agility Championship may be designated as a Triple Champion. This is quite an accomplishment for both the dog and its owner.
TROPHY TABLE: Located in the club area, this table has a display of certain trophies offered that day. Usually trophies are awarded in the ring. However, sometimes you will receive a trophy card in the ring at the time you receive your award. The card will usually note the award. Take that card to the trophy table and give it to the person manning it. They may ask you to sign the card at the time they give you the trophy.

VARIETY GROUP: Dog breeds are classified by AKC into seven Variety Groups. They are: Sporting, Hound, Working, Terrier, Toy, Non-Sporting and Herding.

WINNERS: The first-place winners in each of the regular classes compete for Winners. At the end of the dog classes Winners Dog and Reserve Winners Dog are chosen. At the end of the bitch classes Winners Bitch and Reserve Winners Bitch are chosen. The Winners Dog and Winners Bitch compete in the Best of Breed Competition for that breed at that show and compete against each other to determine the Best of Winners award. Championship points are awarded at the Winners level. If you go Best of Winners or if you go Best of Breed or Best of Opposite Sex from the classes it could affect the number of points you may get. NOTE: You should remain ringside after your class is judged. If you were awarded second to the dog or bitch that goes Winners you will need to go back into the ring to compete for Reserve Winners.
TYPES OF EVENTS

There are many different types of events in which your dog may compete. You may choose one or several. Each event for which your dog may be eligible to compete offers you and your dog new and exciting ways to strengthen the bond between you while having fun. You can get a complete list at www.akc.org or at www.infodog.com by clicking on the “New to Dogs” icon. Here are some of the event types:

AGILITY: This area of the sport is more along the lines of the ultimate game for the handler and dog. The timed trials are easy for spectators to follow and exciting for them to watch. In Agility, a dog follows cues from his handler as he shows his agile nature and versatility making his way through an obstacle course while the timeclock is ticking. The course may have jumps, tunnels, weave poles and other obstacles. There are two types of classes that offer increasing levels of difficulty in earning titles.

CGC: The Canine Good Citizenship program awards a certification to dogs that can demonstrate they have good manners at home and in the community through a series of exercises. The two-part program stresses responsible pet ownership for owners and basic good manners for their canine companions. The 10-step CGC Test is a good way to begin your dog’s training and it can be a springboard into other AKC events.

GROUP SHOW: These are events held for those breeds within a specific Variety Group. For example, all the Working breeds would be eligible within an event held by a Working Group club.

MATCH SHOW: There are no points available at these events. Clubs are required to have matches on their way to being approved. These types of matches are run like a point show and demonstrate the club’s ability to perform the duties required of a point show. A fun match is simply that: fun. Matches are good practice for you and your dog as well. This is an excellent way for you to understand judging procedure and your dog to be in a show situation. At a match you usually enter your dog that day and get your armband at the entry desk.

OBEDIENCE TRIAL: Unlike Conformation show judging, Obedience is somewhat easier for a spectator to follow. In Obedience classes a dog must perform a prescribed set of exercises on which it is scored. A perfect score is 200; points are deducted if the dog errs in his performance. These exercises can easily be translated into day-to-day life with your dog. For example, dogs must heel, both on and off lead, sit, down, stay and come when called. In advanced classes there are more difficult exercises, such as directed jumps and scent discrimination. Obedience dogs may compete for a number of titles at different levels of experience and training.

POINT SHOW: These are events at which points toward an AKC Championship may be awarded. Entries for these events must be in the accepting office by a deadline, typically two and one-half weeks prior to the show. At these events you will pick up your armband at the ring where you are to be judged, approximately 10-15 minutes prior to your judging time. You will know your armband number because you will have received a copy of the judging schedule and your dog’s ID for the show in the mail prior to show day. Also known as a breed show or conformation show, these are the events in which your dog is judged against the Breed Standard.

SPECIALTY: A Specialty event is held for a specific breed. You may have an independent specialty show, you may have an association of specialty clubs or a combined specialty club which would hold events for those designated breeds in their association or group.

RALLY: This is Obedience with a twist. The dog and handler must complete a course designed by the Rally judge. There are designated stations that provide instructions regarding the skill to be performed. Scoring is not as stringent as traditional obedience. And, unlike Obedience, handlers may talk to their dogs and encourage their dogs in a variety of ways. Teamwork is the key in Rally.

TRACKING, FIELD TRIALS, NITE HUNTS, HUNTING TESTS, WATER TESTS OR RACES, EARTHDog TESTS, HERDing TESTS, LURE COURSING: These events provide interesting and varied competition for specific breeds to demonstrate their natural abilities in jobs for which they were originally bred and developed. Some of these events may be non-competitive. Go to the AKC’s website (www.akc.org) for Rules, breed eligibility, requirements, titles, etc.
HOW TO FILL OUT AN ENTRY FORM

Entering a show requires that you complete an entry form with your dog’s information and certain information about yourself. The entry form consists of two pages (front and back). Without both sides of the entry form it is invalid and unacceptable for entry into a show. Entry forms are found in each club’s premium list (the advance announcement of the show that lists all pertinent information regarding the show). In addition, Superintending organizations have generic forms available at their show offices. The following guidelines should help make the process less intimidating and should help you submit a correctly filled out entry form.

1. If you are using the entry form from the premium list the top portion of the form will contain information regarding the show you are entering. It will have the club name and date, the event number, the location of the event, entry fees, closing date and time and information on where your entry should be submitted.

If you are using a generic entry form, such as the sample above, you need to write in only the proper name of the club and the complete date of the event in the blank space at the top of the form.

2. The breed of your dog goes here. Do not use initials since some breeds have the same initials. And, don’t use only part of the breed name because it could be entered incorrectly. For example, if you have an Irish Setter don’t put “Irish” alone in the space for the breed, since there are also Irish Wolfhounds and Irish Terriers.

3. If your breed has a Variety, the Variety goes here. For example, Collies have Smooth and Rough Varieties. So, “Collie” would go in the space for the breed and either “Smooth” or “Rough” would go in this space. Cocker Spaniels, Beagles, Dachshunds, Bull Terriers, Fox Terriers, Manchester Terriers, Chihuahuas, English Toy Spaniels and Poodles are examples of other breeds that have Varieties.

4 The gender of your dog goes here.

5 The class you wish to enter goes here. You can find the list of classes offered at the event in the club’s premium list, under the heading “Breed Classification”. This is where the classes offered for this particular event are published, along with the breeds acceptable for the event, any class divisions and the judges who will be officiating.

6 Certain classes are divided by age, weight, coat or color and if that information is not provided on your entry form your entry wouldn’t be acceptable. This is where that information goes. For example, if you are entering a show where the Puppy Classes are divided you would put “Puppy” in the space for the Dog Show Class and the age division, “6-9” or “9-12” in this space. If you have a breed that will have the Open Class divided by color you would put “Open” in the space for the Class and you would put your dog’s offered color division in this space. For example, if you have a Great Dane in the Open Class you would put the color of your dog (Black, Blue, Brindle, Fawn, Harlequin or Mantle) in this space.

7 If you are entering more than one conformation class, this is where the additional class goes. For example, if the club is offering a Sweepstakes class that you want to enter in addition to your regular class this is where you would put “Sweepstakes” along with the age division. If the club is offering a Sweepstakes it will be listed in the Breed Classification area of the premium list and the requirements for the Sweepstakes, the age divisions and fee would usually be listed with the breed prizes.

8 If you are entering Obedience this is where you would put the class (usually Novice, Open, or Utility) you are entering. Do not forget to designate whether you are entering “A” or “B”. If you are entering the Novice A obedience class and you put “Novice” but not the “A” the entry would be unacceptable. These are separate classes and if you don’t designate which one you want to enter the Superintendent or Show Secretary will not know in which class you should be entered and would have to return the entry.

9 If you are entering Rally, this is where you would put the class (Rally Novice, Rally Advanced, Rally Excellent) you are entering. Do not forget to designate whether you are in “A” or “B”. And, remember, some Rally classes require you to list your dog’s jump height. As noted above, if you do not designate “A” or “B” the Superintendent or Show Secretary would not be able to accept your entry.

10 If you are entering your child in Junior Showmanship, this is where the class information (usually “Novice” or “Open”) goes. Again, along with the class, you must designate whether the child is “Junior,” “Intermediate,” or “Senior”. The requirements for the classes are found in the club’s premium list under a heading for Junior Showmanship.
The name of the Junior Handler goes here.

The Junior Handler Number goes here. This is a number that must be obtained from AKC prior to the child entering a show. This number must be included on the entry form or it cannot be accepted. Each premium list contains information regarding obtaining a Junior Handler Number.

The Name of your dog as it appears on your registration form goes in this space. If your individual registration is in process at AKC put the name you applied for on your registration papers and in the margin put “In Process.” An incorrect or incomplete name could lead to problems with your dog’s show record or having an award disallowed. Most of the information you need to complete an entry form is on your dog’s registration slip.

If you have received your permanent registration from AKC, check the top box in this space and write the number in the space to the right. If you have not received your permanent registration number yet and will be entering under the dog’s litter registration number, check the second box, etc. An AKC registration number consists of two letters and eight numbers. The entire number must be included in this space. If your dog is being shown under an acceptable Foreign Registration Number you should checkmark that box and you must note the country from which this registration was issued. An incomplete number or an incorrect number could lead to problems with respect to your dog’s show record or could lead to an award being disallowed.

Your dog’s birthday goes here: Month, Date and Year.

Checkmark the box that indicates where your dog was born.

List the name(s) of the breeder(s) of your dog in this space. The breeders are the owners of your dog’s dam (mother) at the time of the breeding which resulted in your puppy’s litter. This information also appears on your registration slip. They are all equal in AKC’s eyes.

List the Sire (father) of your dog here.

List the Dam (mother) of your dog here.
1. List the actual owner(s) of your dog here. All owners must be listed. If your dog has multiple owners you should understand that AKC considers all owners on a dog equal. There is no such thing as a “primary” owner.

2. List your address here. If your dog has multiple owners, only one address may be listed. This is the address to which your entry confirmation will be sent. This is also the address that the club’s Superintending organization will add to their mailing list so that you will start receiving premium lists in the mail.

3. If you are using the services of a Professional Handler you should list the name here. If your handler has an Agent # issued through the Superintending organization, the Professional Handlers Association, the Dog Handlers Guild or the AKC you must list the number in order for your handler to receive separate confirmation information regarding your dog for this particular event. If the Agent # is not included your handler will not receive this information. You cannot be an Agent on a dog you own or co-own, except AKC Registered Handlers may be listed as an Agent on a dog they own or co-own.

4. Your signature is required in this space. When you sign the entry form you are agreeing to the certification statement made just above the signature line and to the Agreement on the reverse side of the entry form. An unsigned entry form is not valid and cannot be accepted.

5. You should put your daytime phone number here. If there is a problem with your entry the Superintendent may attempt to contact you. Although they are not required to do so, if they find the error early enough in the process they may try to resolve the problem with you so they don’t have to return the entry. There are deadlines to which they must adhere so there may be times when they have no choice but to return your entry because of missing information.

6. Check this box if this is YOUR first show. If you have not shown a dog before you should come to the Superintendent’s office for newcomer information or to obtain information on whether a newcomer’s orientation is being held that day.

7. List your e-mail address here. If you have more than one e-mail address, list the one that you use or check most often. Again, if there is a problem with your entry, the Superintendent will attempt to e-mail you before telephoning, to try to resolve the problem.

I (WE) AGREE THAT ANY CAUSE OF ACTION, CONTROVERSY OR CLAIM ARISING OUT OF OR RELATED TO THE ENTRY, EXHIBITION OR ATTENDANCE AT THE EVENT BETWEEN THE AKC AND THE EVENT-GIVING CLUB (UNLESS OTHERWISE STATED IN ITS PREMIUM LIST) AND MYSELF (OURSELVES) OR AS TO THE CONSTRUCTION, INTERPRETATION AND EFFECT OF THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE SETTLED BY ARBITRATION PURSUANT TO THE APPLICABLE RULES OF THE AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION. HOWEVER, PRIOR TO ARBITRATION ALL APPLICABLE AKC BYLAWS, RULES, REGULATIONS AND PROCEDURES MUST FIRST BE FOLLOWED AS SET FORTH IN THE AKC CHARTER AND BYLAWS, RULES, REGULATIONS, PUBLISHED POLICIES AND GUIDELINES.
